

Between You... and Me...

Time for some boy talk, which usually involves a sleepover (just the two of you), nail polish, and a large supply of popcorn. While you're exchanging pedicures and pigging out on snacks, consider this question:

If you wanted to have a boy for a friend, what would the qualifications be?

Think about the good guys you've read about in the Bible so far—David, Jonathan, Boaz, to name a few. Do they have any qualities you'd like to see in a guy friend?

It would be way fun to tape record your conversation and keep it to listen to a few years from now. A video would be even more hilarious. Enjoy!
